The Spirit of Taylor

Taylor University, a body composed of over 1200 students, administrators, and faculty members, is dedicated to the advancement of a Christian liberal arts program. The unique blend of Christian ideals within the framework of academic attainment creates an unequaled atmosphere—the "Taylor Spirit."

The "Taylor Spirit" reaches a highpoint during Homecoming weekend when returning alumni are reunited with the "Taylor Family." A traditional aspect of this event is the selection of a Homecoming queen. This year's queen, Linda Mortenson, and her court personify the youthful enthusiasm at Taylor. However, the "Taylor Spirit" is not lost after Homecoming, but prevails throughout the entire year.

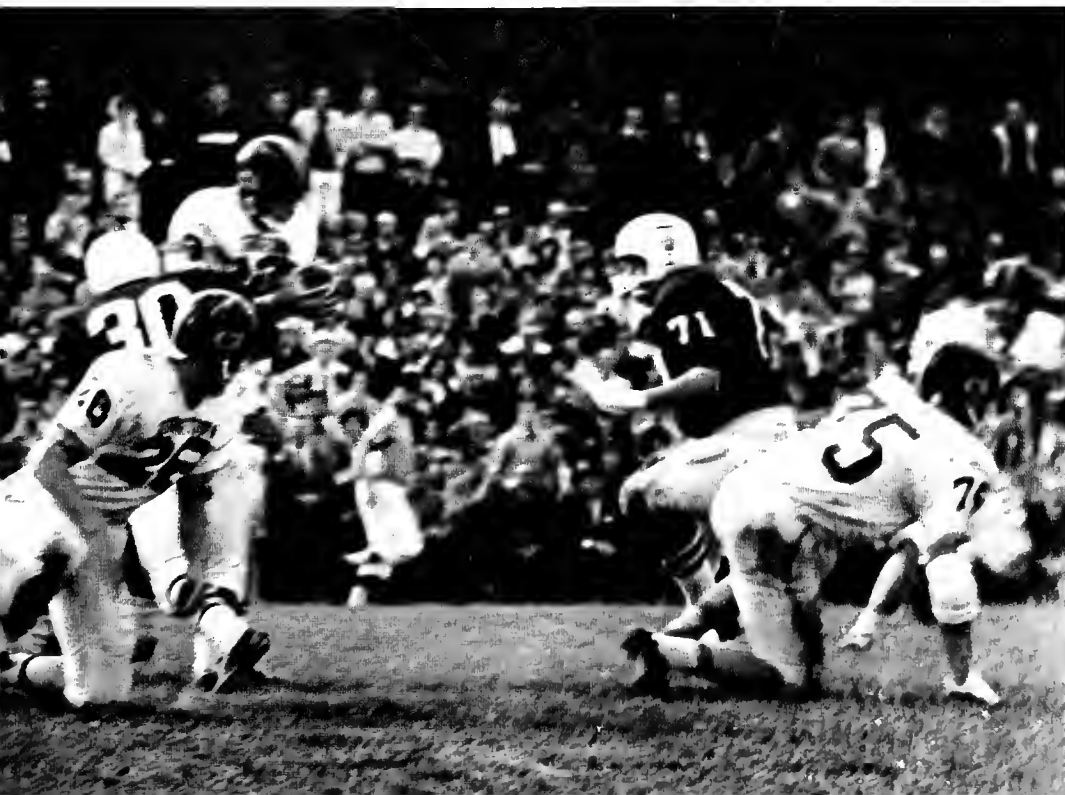

The spirit of Taylor, undefinable in mere words, can also be expressed in . . .

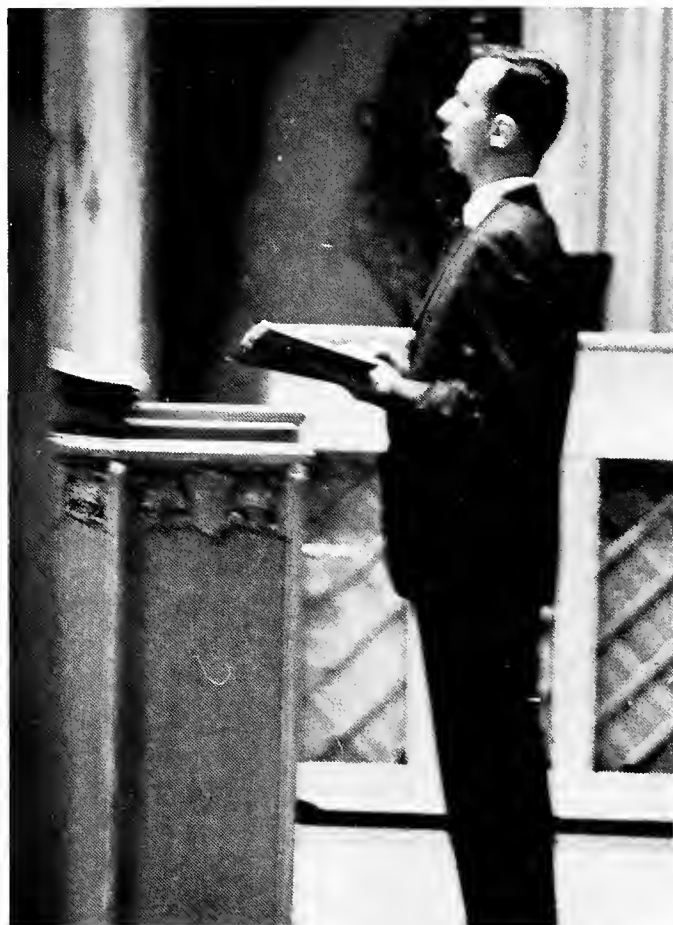

the warmth of a smile across the table,
the robust cheers of an overwhelming victory,
the crushing silence of defeat, the reflections of solitary meditations,
the pride in Taylor's growth—a new dorm,
the President's home, and a new science building.

Give ear to my words, O Lord, consider my meditation.
Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray.

Perhaps even more significantly, the "Taylor Spirit" is prominent in moments of spiritual and academic stimulation. Thus the Taylor student emerges capable of living in and contributing to modern society.

TU Gospel Teams

Serve Effectively

In various area churches, the Taylor University gospel teams are well known. Through music and the spoken word, these groups of students communicate their faith in Christ. Under the leadership of Professor William Ewbank, the Religious Services Office organized five teams this year—four trios and a mixed quartet. Students who volunteer to participate in this program gain useful experience in practical Christianity and perform a valuable service for the churches. Other concerned young people present their witness in children's homes, jails, and hospitals through Personal Evangelism.

Each year Missionary Conference highlights the religious activities of the fall semester. Services held on November 16-18 were well attended, and the speakers were well received.

Youth Conference committee—Miss Ruth Breuninger, Jan Brubaker, Wesley Rediger, Lynne Freeland, Joe Miller, Nancy Kitson, Charlene Phillips—meets to co-ordinate phases of Conference, March 31-April 2.

Co-chairman Joe Miller and Charlene Phillips spent many hours discussing and planning for Youth Conference.

Hundreds of students attend the sessions of Missionary Conference and listen intently to the guest speakers.

Crowds, mattresses, long lines, discussion groups, sleepless nights, outstanding speakers, lasting commitments—these are a few of the things that make Youth Conference at Taylor such a memorable event. This spring about 1000 high school students and their sponsors converged on the campus to hear Dr. Robert Finley and Rev. Jay Kesler speak on this year's theme "Complete in Him." Another spiritual highlight of the year was Missionary Conference which was held in the fall. The speakers for this weekend were Dr. William Gillam and the Rev. William MacDonald; the theme, "Privilege Denied."

Two Conferences Challenge Students

Students enjoy meeting campus guests at informal receptions which follow performances.

Cultural Programs Attract Wide Interests

During the year, outstanding personalities in many fields are brought to Taylor to speak and to perform. The experience of the student is vastly broadened by his contact with important figures in government, religion, science, education, and the arts. Some of the guests are invited to participate in a chapel convocation; some entertain during the evening lyceum series; some are sponsored by the Student Union Board. Because the development of the whole person is the object of education at Taylor, cultural and social activities are emphasized along with the academic pursuits.

Mr. Sandy Coggan, U.S. Department of State, explained U.S. policies.

Renowned pianist Sydney Foster performs.

Miss Janice Matisse, Metropolitan Opera star, performs for the student body, accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Dickey.

Mrs. Mona Dayton, National Teacher of the Year, and President Rediger greet guests at an evening reception.

Dr. Gladys Borchers and Dr. Frances Ewbank chat informally with Danforth Lecturer, Mrs. Kay Baxter.

Distrustful husband tests wife's fidelity in the production "The Shoemaker's Wife."

"The Shoemaker's Wife" and "The Staring Match" were the two plays presented in An Evening of One Act Plays. The first one, directed by Bob Blixt, is a classical farce about Hans the Shoemaker who decides his wife does not love him anymore, and so he decides to test her by feigning to be dead. The second play could be considered a religious drama. Set in the Midwest during a drought, the townspeople finally resort to praying since all else has failed. They are confronted by two men both claiming to be messengers from God. They must then vote to decide whom to believe. This play was under the direction of Pete Carlson.

Shoemaker's pretty wife teases her frustrated husband Hans.

Because of a severe drought, death and starvation stare Midwestern settlers in the face.

In "The Staring Match," the townspeople vote—which is the angel and which is the devil?

The Birds and The Mikado Receive Raves

Music and pageantry sparked the major plays presented on Taylor's campus this year. The Birds, an adaptation from the Greek comedy by Aristophanes, was presented first semester by the Speech and Drama Department under the direction of Bonnie Dixon and Bob Blixt. The Orchestra directed by Professor Klaas Kuiper provided the accompaniment for the solos and the chorus of birds. The comic opera, The Mikado, was presented second semester under the direction of Bonnie Dixon and Dr. Hermanson. It is the story of the romance between Nanki-Poo and Yum-Yum; it is set in Japan during the nineteenth century. The cast worked late into the night many nights to produce one of the finest presentations to hit this campus in several years.

The chorus of birds sits as silent observers of the action.

In The Birds, the crowd scenes are particularly impressive because of the colorful costumes.

The leading character Nanki-Poo makes his entrance into the city at the beginning of the play.

Composed of approximately forty students, the Chorale is the largest musical organization on campus. This group is invited to present concerts in the area, to participate in campus functions, and to plan a tour of several states. Building a repertoire of classical and religious numbers requires hours and hours of intense rehearsal. The culmination of all this practice is the annual spring tour. This year the Chorale spent nearly two weeks giving concerts in the Midwest, and was very well received. Members of the organization have the satisfaction of knowing that their performances illustrate the excellence of Taylor music.

Horns, Haydn, Harmony Mark the Band

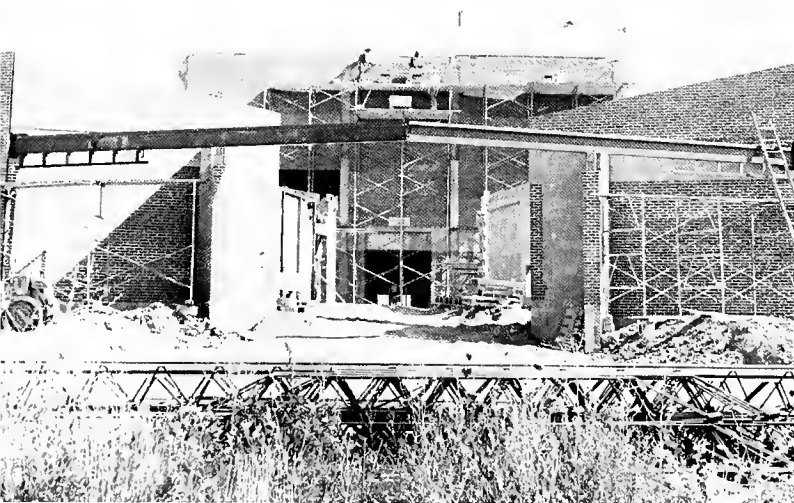

Professor Kuiper leads the band in a practice session.

They say that good things come in small packages, and this is certainly true of the Taylor University Concert Band. This versatile organization plays everything from classical movements to snappy marches. This year the 32-member band has performed for the student body during the chapel hour. Members selected from this group comprised the orchestra which played for the productions of The Birds and The Mikado. During the Fine Arts Festival the band presented its annual Pops Concert. In this concert they performed all types of contemporary music, jazz, showtunes, popular songs. This organization is under the leadership of Professor Klaas Kuiper.

Dust was never noticed that exciting first day.

Taylor grew with the addition of the Science building.

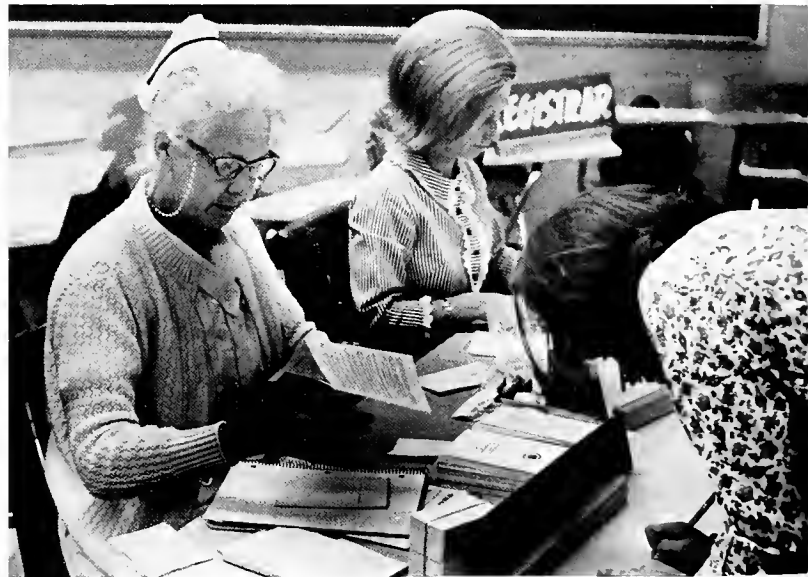

Cluttered did not even begin to described the halls.

Faces Reflect Eagerness...

The last stop of the long lines—the cashier.

“’Cuse our dust” read the sign that welcomed new students to Taylor’s campus on that first day. Empty halls were soon to be filled with suitcases, record players, typewriters, and students anxious to embark upon the four greatest years of their lives. The first week was the worst. The days were spent paying bills, buying insurance, and of course standing in endless registration lines only to discover that the class you needed that semester was closed. The first week passed quickly and before you realized it, the returning students had arrived, and things really began to move.

Student insurance is available through the Health Center.

Weary faces show the strain of long registration lines.

A Desire for Relaxation and Routine

The school year was officially initiated with the opening game of football season. What could be more thrilling than to cheer your team on to victory? Athletic events provided an opportunity for the students to meet the President informally. Exams, reports, and long nights accompanied the arrival of football season, and students new and old were introduced to the art of studying. Time seemed to vanish, and soon the campus was blanketed by the first snow of the year. Students took time out from busy schedules to enjoy the snow.

President and Mrs. Rediger are pleased with the victory.

Loyal students support the Taylor Trojan football team.

Freshman aptitude tests require intense concentration.

This student shows bewilderment at Hoosier weather.

Ice enhances the beauty of barren trees.

And A Need for Social Life

Two "graceful" cheerleaders coach a very "ungraceful" powderpuff football team.

A TU he-man takes out his frustration on the roof of a wrecked car.

Shortly after school opened, the campus organizations began to function. The women of WRA tried their hands at football—the powderpuff variety. Perhaps more clever, the men sponsored a car smash. These and other endeavors made campus life lively and spirited. However, some of the most exciting events of the school year were the banquets and buffets. The Christmas and Sweetheart banquets drew large groups of young couples enjoying the beautiful atmosphere. The excitement and sorrow of the year passed with amazing speed. Many things happened, but now they are only memories . . .

"Dad" reads a Christmas story to "his" children.

Atmosphere was created by romantic candlelight.

A table of Taylor couples enjoys the Christmas banquet.

The cafeteria is transformed by the beauty of sparkling ice.

The Spirit of the Academic

Academic achievement, essential in every university, is somewhat unique at Taylor. Although the course of scholastic attainment is similar to other universities, the learning of the Taylor student is enriched by Christian ideals. The subject matter is vitalized by the application of Christian truth to daily classroom learning. The dedication of the Taylor professor and his personal concern for the individual student also contributes to the exceptional "spirit of the academic." The significance of this student-teacher rapport is evident in the quality of the Taylor student, and it will become increasingly more apparent to the Taylor graduate in his future endeavors.

Division of Philosophy and Religion

The Division of Philosophy and Religion contains the departments of Greek, Philosophy, and Religion. This division prepares young men and women for Christian service and ministry. The courses offered by the departments in this division are presented so that students from any evangelical denomination will be well-prepared for their life's work. A philosophy major consists of twenty-four hours and a minor, sixteen hours. A religion major must have thirty hours. Each year this division sponsors the Religion and Philosophy Forums. This year's speakers were Dr. A. F. Holmes and Dr. Martin E. Marty.

Division of Education

Simply stated, the goal of the Division of Education is to make a teacher of a student. In this process, the division strives to guide the student in gaining a knowledge of subject matter, in learning effective teaching methods, and in developing a sound philosophy of education. The Educational Media Center, the Student Teaching Office, and the Teacher Certification and Placement Office are the agencies through which education faculty can work in the production of Taylor teachers. The physical education department of the division has as its specific aim the development and maintenance of good physical health by all students.

Division Head: Dr. Edward Hermanson

Department Head: Prof. Jack Patton

Division of Fine Arts

The Division of Fine Arts' goals are to provide opportunities for students to come to an appreciation of the arts as well as an opportunity to express themselves through artistic expression. The departments of Art and Music strive to prepare students who are entering some field of the arts with substantial skills in their particular area. Each year in the spring the Fine Arts Division is responsible for the Fine Arts Festival. During this week there is a student art display in the gym, music concerts, and drama presentations. This year was highlighted with a faculty art exhibit and a piano recital.

The Division of Language and Literature includes the departments of English, Modern Languages, and Speech. The aims of this division are to develop the student's ability in both spoken and written languages; to increase speed, comprehension, and critical ability in reading; to help students to an appreciation of the great literature that has been passed down to us through the ages; to prepare future teachers with a strong background in their field. This division was responsible for bringing Mrs. Kay Baxter to us this year. Her stimulating lectures concerned modern drama.

Division of Language and Literature

Division and Department Heads: L-R: Prof. Gladys Greathouse, Dr. Hazel Butz, Prof. John Jantzen

The Division of Natural Sciences, including physical and life sciences as well as mathematics, pursues two main goals. First, the departments are concerned with instruction about specific facts and principles: the law of gravitation, the structure of a monocot, the properties of the halogens, or the binomial expansion. Second, the various departments emphasize the development of basic scientific attitudes and traits: curiosity, objectivity, logical reasoning, organization and neatness, painstaking exactness. In attempting to accomplish its goals, the division strives to make the student aware of the evidences of God in nature.

In the Division of Social Sciences, the emphasis is on people. Both the civilization and the individual become the objects of study; the relative importance of the past on the present and the future is a major consideration. The social scientist uses a modified scientific method in doing his research about the ways in which people differ from each other. He attempts to discover where they live, what they think, how they govern themselves, and much more. Through a study of history, geography, economics, political science, psychology, or sociology, one should be able to understand better the society in which he lives.

Division of Social Sciences

Division and Department Heads: Seated L-R: Dr. Frank Roye, Prof. Grace Olson. Standing: Prof. Philip Loy, Prof. Roger Jenkinson, Prof. Darvin Miller.

The Spirit of Personalities

Taylor University is more than buildings, schedules, class lectures . . . it is also the “spirit of personalities.” The students, the administrators, the faculty and staff members fulfill specific roles at Taylor. However diverse these roles may be, all are united in a common goal. This goal is the advancement of higher education within a Christian atmosphere. Although the goal sometimes seems unattainable, the common desire for the success of the Taylor tradition in modern society and the caliber of these personalities prevail against such opposition. Thus the Taylor spirit persists.

Dr. Milo A. Rediger
President, Taylor University

It is a thrilling experience to be involved in the exciting adventure of learning—teaching—managing within the framework of a Christian University and with Christian people.

During the past two years we have been involved together in the excitement of growth, forward movement and building activity—Wengatz Hall, East Hall, Fieldhouse, classroom building, Science Building, President's Home, walkways, water and sewer lines, etc. We are now actively engaged in planning the second major phase of the new Taylor—Student Union, Library and Chapel-Auditorium. Actually, what has taken place during this two-year period is nothing short of a series of miracles. Surely God has given evidence of His leadership and His blessing, and this has put a spiritual quality into our enthusiasm.

Never before in the 120 year history of Taylor University has there been such a period of growth and expansion, and never before has there been such a great need for it or such a challenging opportunity.

Recently William Allen White said, "If Christianity is to survive, it must survive in an environment made by Christian leaders. It cannot survive in an atmosphere that is thickening with modern paganism. Unless those who believe in a Christian civilization are willing to sacrifice their good, hard-earned cash to educate Christian leaders, they will find in a few generations that their dreams have vanished."

If American education is to continue to serve society and the Kingdom of God, the privately supported Christian colleges must survive. It is only in these institutions that Christian leadership can be nurtured and trained. Taylor, not only by its motto but by its goals and its practices, is this kind of University. This is what generates and underlines the importance and urgency of our task.

Dr. E. Sterl Phinney, in his position of Academic Dean of Taylor University, helps to foster the atmosphere of a Christian academic university.

Registering Taylor's many students this year is under the direction of Mr. E. Stanley Banker, Taylor University Registrar.

Mrs. Mattie Sellers serves as secretary to President Rediger.

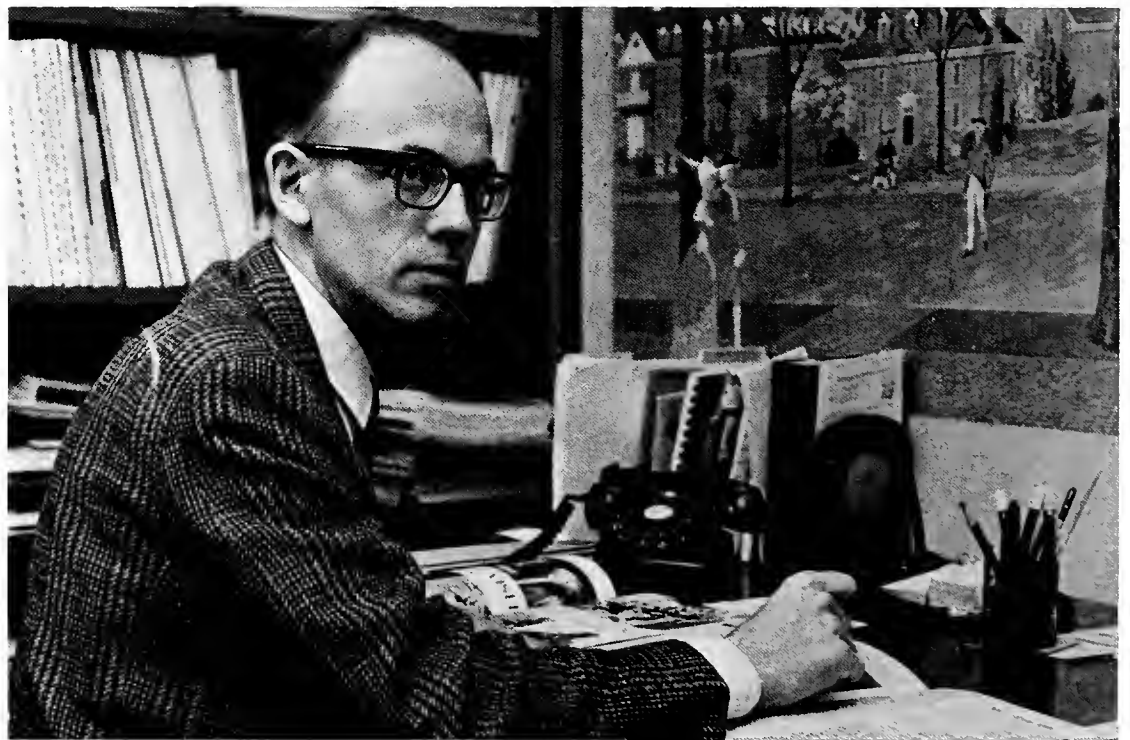

Miss Connie Williams, registrar's secretary, and Miss Naomi Moore, recorder, check many records daily. Not pictured is Mrs. Vivian Van Sise.

Assisting Dean Phinney with the academic endeavors of Taylor is Mrs. Freda Heath, secretary.

Promoting Taylor to the public and helping to guide its future growth is Dr. Gordon Zimmerman, Director of Development.

Current news of Taylor and its students makes area papers through the efforts of Mr. Will Cleveland, Director of Publicity.

Keeping in touch with the many TU alumni is "Alumni Ed" Edward Bruerd, director of the Alumni Center.

Growth and development play a large role in the Taylor University of 1966-67. As work progresses on the new Science Building, plans turn to the new Student Union coming in the near future and the chapel-auditorium which is in the planning stage. Gifts and grants from the Taylor family, the community of Upland, and the many individuals and companies interested in Taylor help the University reach its goals. Also aiding Taylor's growth are two assistants to the President, Dr. Kenneth Van Sise and Don Odle (pictured in faculty section.)

Mrs. Fern Shawver is Development Office secretary.

As Business Manager, Mr. Paul D. Keller directs the financial affairs of the University.

Mr. Eugene Riebe is Assistant Business Manager and spends much time working with student records.

Chief Accountant in the Business Office is Mr. William Davis.

These women serve in the Business Office: Miss Virginia Cline, assistant accountant; Mrs. Doris Burrell, contributions secretary; Miss Ruth Ann Pulley, cashier; Mrs. Nancy Deskins, clerk.

Miss Olive DeCamp is secretary to the Business Manager.

Reviewing architectural plans is a frequent task of Mr. William Habegger, Co-ordinator of Construction.

Mr. Ernest Valutis is the Director of Admissions.

Director of Student Affairs is Mr. Samuel Delcamp.

Mrs. Jonell Van Dam and Mrs. Betty Jackson are secretaries in the Office of Student Affairs.

Mr. Ronald Keller is Associate Director of Student Affairs.

Mr. Russell Clark is Admissions Counsellor.

Secretaries in the Admissions Office are Mrs. Gayle Hey and Mrs. Laura Connor.

Our Financial Aids Counsellor is Mr. Bernie Tucker.

The Spirit of Athletics

An important aspect of the complete development of the Taylor student is the "spirit of athletics." Whether the action occurs on a football field, a basketball court, or a baseball diamond, the challenge of victory or defeat is ever-present. Consequently each participant matures through individual practice, teamwork, and competition. Taylor provides the opportunity for such growth through participation in seven intercollegiate sports as well as through intramural and women's athletics. Whether an athlete or a spectator, the Taylor student is enriched by the variety of athletics in the University program.

'Wait 'Til Next Year'--Trojan Grid Cry

Following five consecutive victories, hopes for an undefeated season kindled Taylor spirits to feverish heights. However, three disappointing, late-season losses dampened these optimistic hopes.

The Trojans, led by fullback Bob Harms, opened the season with a hard-fought win over Wilmington. Next, Manchester and Anderson fell victims to the ever potent offense of the Trojans. Then, a stalwart defensive crew and a clutch field goal by Joe Romine thrilled a Parent's Day crowd with a last-minute upset over formidable Georgetown. The following week, the Taylor defense displayed its fourth-place, national rating by subduing Indiana Central. However, Hanover's passing attack halted the Trojan winning streak, and Franklin, by spoiling and otherwise perfect Taylor Homecoming, squelched all hopes of a conference title. The Trojan pigskin squad closed the season by losing a close game to nationally ranked Defiance College.

Trojans Retain Tennis Crown!

For the second consecutive year, the Trojan netmen captured the conference title by winning eight matches and losing only two at the hands of highly touted Bellarmine and Goshen. Altogether, the racketman out-scored their opponents in 52 of 69 sets.

Captain Arnie Grover, playing his last year, capped a fine college career by scoring impressive victories when most needed; the Keller-Gee combination extended their string of victories to 16 in conference doubles action and Paul Rork maintained his fine form to retain his distinction of "most formidable player in the conference."

The Taylor harriers climaxed a fine season by winning the conference championship. The Trojans placed five men in the first twelve places with Phil Captain taking top honors. The previous week, Phil had won the Little State meet while leading the team to first place.

Over Thanksgiving, the squad traveled to Omaha for the national NAIA meet. Although they finished 19th, each Taylor runner improved on his last year's time. Prospects for a successful season next fall are good because of a strong nucleus of returning men.

The Trojan hardwood team, although struggling to a disappointing fourth place tie in the conference, shows much promise for the future. Leading returnees for next year will include Chuck Taylor, who placed third among the state's leading scorers, and freshman Larry Holloway, one of the conference's leading scorers and rebounders. Along with these two, Tom Dillon, a sharpshooting guard, Dick Rohrer, a strong rebounder, and Jack Baumgardner, a valuable sixth man will help build a well-balanced squad for next year's Trojans.

Two quick wins and startling fourth place at Richmond opened the season. The Trojans then fell to a strong Willerforce team in the final of the Taylor Tournament. Following a split in conference games the Trojans finished an impressive second in the Marshall Holiday Classic. Then Dick Rohrer and Chuck Taylor led the cagers to three wins over Southern foes. Semester break was no vacation for the Trojans as they split four more conference games, including a hotly contested one at Franklin. Taylor opened the semester with a win over a stubborn Calvin as Chuck Taylor hit for 40. Larry Holloway pumped in 42 as Taylor lost a heartbreaker to league-leading I.C. The Trojan backcourt sparkled in wins over Franklin and Hanover as Taylor and Dillon garnered 115 points between them. A disappointing loss to Manchester was forgotten as the Trojans were led by Chuck Taylor's three-point play with nine seconds remaining and the steady play of Cliff Cox who contributed 15 points and 30 rebounds in his final and probably finest effort of his career.

The B-Team posted an impressive 14 win 5 loss record during the season. Much talent and potential was exhibited in both close games and runaways. Garth Cone captured the fancy of the crowd with his deceptive passing and accurate shooting. Then too, for a small man, Steve Oldham was always in the midst of the action, getting his share of rebounds and points. Jerry Wortz continued to improve and there were times when this big fellow was head and shoulders above everyone in ability.

Among the freshman prospects Larry Cooper, a real hustler, and Larry Wall, a fine sixth man, proved capable to the cause. Denny Ladd brought fans to their feet many a time with his "long bombs" that hit! Big Al Jackson and Tom Essenburg saw considerable action while contributing their portion of the game's action. Ken Bocken, Rick Helfrick, Joe Romine, Arnie Book, Rich Stryker, and Lee Myers were the ones who kept the team prepared with excellent opposition in those long, hard scrimmages during practice.

Six of the boys, Cone, Book, Essenburg, Wortz, Ladd, and Cooper made a tour of Northern Washington and British Columbia during the Christmas vacation. They played twelve games with teams of varying qualities and won all twelve. The trip was most worthwhile.

Brains and Brawn Mix on the Mats

Prospects for a successful wrestling season were enhanced by a returning squad including Steve Jeffrey, Tom Linder, Bob Gipson, Dan Dame, seniors Gene Keller, and Ben Lester, and freshmen hopefuls Dick Kuhn, Bud Gillan, Steve Dicks, and Larry Grigsby. A resounding victory in thirty-five minutes over Atterbury began the season at a fast pace. The next match with Wayne State proved to be much tougher as Taylor wrestled to a 17-17 tie. The win over Hanover proved to be costly as Steve Dicks suffered a shoulder separation.

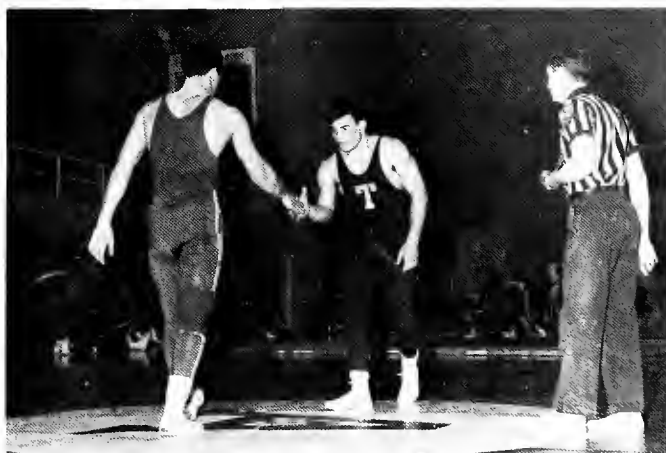

Injuries began to take their toll as the team lost to a talented Southeast Missouri State. However, Bob Diller and Rich Muller, both new, along with an enthusiastic group of reserves proved that the Taylor grapplers will have much to look forward to next year. The Trojans ended the season by placing third in the conference meet as Keller was the only man to gain a first place medal, while Jeffrey and Lester captured seconds. Keller took a collegiate record of 42 wins and 2 losses into the NAIA tournament at Lock Haven, Pennsylvania.

Base Paths Will Be Crowded!

The Trojans had their best record in 1966 (24-10) including second place in the H.C.C. and a berth in the NAIA playoffs. Four key seniors were lost by the team to graduation including pitcher Bob Overman (5-4), Ron Bocken, and all H.C.C. catcher Dan Wilson (.315). The services of Paul Wamsley as a pitcher (8-2) and hitter (5 homers, 28 RBI's, .360) were sorely missed.

However, some good-looking freshmen in Denny Ladd, Mike Pompilli, Steve Lomax, and Ken Bocken should bolster the pitching staff with upperclassmen Tom Dillon, Garth Cone, Keith Doudt, Mike Wilson, and Jim Linkenback. Ken O'Brien has the catching duties well in hand while sophomore Tony Garton backs him up.

The infield is set with returning lettermen Mancini, Mohler, and Atkinson while Chris Rood and Dwight Johnson vie for any gaps to be filled.

Tom Dillon heads an inspiring bunch of capable outfielders. Others who will see action in the outer gardens are Mike Mitchell, Dick Martinson, Pete Carlson, and Tim Sumner along with some talented freshmen.

Team hustle, a strong defense, pitching depth, and experience should give the 1967 Trojans an exciting season.

1967 Track - Experience Counts

Gary Dennis prepares to let one fly.

Much is expected of Bill Parman in the hurdles—for good reason.

With 16 of 24 lettermen returning, the Taylor track team anticipated great things in 1967. An excellent group of freshmen provided qualitative depth to the team. Returning first place winners in last year's conference meet are pole vaulter Steve Ulm and hurdler Bill Parman. In the running events, the returning lettermen who placed in last year's meet are Phil Captain, 3rd in the two-mile and 5th in the mile, and Rich Graffis, 4th in the 880 yard dash.

Returnees who placed in the field events are Larry Howard, 2nd in the pole vault and 4th in the high jump; Walt Harvey, 2nd in the high jump; Paul Frykholm, 3rd in the long jump; Gary Dennis, 2nd in the javelin; Pete Carlson; and Mike Sonnenberg. Other returning lettermen are Jack Baumgardner, Ron Clark, Bud Hamilton, Mike Hey, and Chris Stauffer. The thinclads ran in three indoor meets prior to the spring trip which proved to be a good test for the team. Coach Glass stated that with a little extra effort by all, the chances of regaining the conference crown May 20 were excellent.

Although one of the lesser known sports on campus, golf should receive a little more attention in 1967. With a very talented group of linksmen returning from last year's squad, there is no telling how well the team can do. Juniors Larry Backlund, Jon Schubert, Dave Odle, Dave Ketner head a capable crew of swingers. Backlund and Schubert proved last year that they were capable of shooting in the 70's consistently which would definitely mean trouble for conference opponents. Then, too, a group of underclassmen could give the lift that the team needs to get them on the way. With good weather, and a few birdies along the way, this could be the start of something big!

Co-captain Priscilla Alden and an opponent attempt a jump ball.

A referee's whistle, a ball, a pair of tennis shoes, a blue tunic, a foul, and a smile . . . all these are familiar to the Taylor Trojanes. The year was both successful and memorable for the team and coach. Years from now the season's outcome will not be remembered, but the unified spirit, team work and life-long friendships will never be forgotten.

The fall of 1966 was a memorable year for the Taylor Trojane field hockey team as they entered inter-collegiate competition for the first time. The Trojanes trained under the highly qualified, watchful eye of Mrs. Horwood. The team, captained by Kathy Meyer, played three games, one with Ball State University and two with Goshen College. Jean Lehman, a freshman, was the leading scorer, and Lynn Salisbury, another freshman, did a top notch job as goalie. After having a year's experience, the girls are eagerly looking forward to another exciting season on the hockey field.

Tongue in cheek, leading scorer Jean Lehman zeroes in toward the ball.

The Spirit of Organizations

The numerous clubs and organizations on Taylor's campus enable each student to develop a wide scope of interest. Each major field of study has its own professional organization which serves to increase interest and knowledge in the individual's specialized field of study. In addition to professional organizations, there are several social and religious clubs. The social clubs render service to Taylor as well as to the surrounding communities. The religious organizations promote spiritual depth and service to others. All of these clubs and organizations provide the means for the outward manifestation of Christian leadership ability and group accomplishments.

Through guest lecturers, informative films, and reports about the current medical research, the Alpha Pi Iota, the Pre-Med Club, stimulates and encourages its aspiring to-be medical students. These very worthwhile meetings help prepare the students for the challenging future that lies ahead of them.

Science Lectures Highlight Semester

Students interested in biology, chemistry, and physics meet informally at regular meetings of the Science Club. Members are made aware of current trends in many scientific areas, and are given the opportunity to discuss them. In March this year, the club sponsored the Eleventh Annual Science Lecture Series, featuring five prominent speakers.

Science Club Officers were Ray Woodcock, v. president; Dave Randall, president; Dave Giegler, biology representative; and Claire Scheele, secretary-treasurer.

Social Science Club Examines Issues

Social Science Club Officers were Jack Stoltzfus, Barry Davis, president; Dan Keller, treasurer; and Wayne Cummins, publicity director.

The Social Science Club is composed of the Social Science Majors and Minors. Included in their activities for the year was a dinner for Congressman J. Edward Roush, Democrat from the 5th district of Indiana. They also sponsored a panel consisting of some of the campus professors who discussed current issues.

Social Science Club members unite in a pledge for an enterprising club.

"Look' Teacher of Year Visits Taylor

Our SEA is recognized as one of the most active chapters in the state of Indiana. The upperclass section is especially important, as members will soon take positions in the education field. The highlight of this year's activities was the convocation featuring the National Teacher of the Year, Mrs. Mona Dayton.

SEA Freshman-Sophomore members review plans for the monthly meeting.

TU Student Runs for State Office

The underclass section of the Student Education Association is one of the largest organizations on campus. Members attend monthly meetings and receive education publications. Our chapter gained prestige this year with the election of Marcia Hendrickson to the presidency of Indiana State SEA.

TU Dramatics Center in Trojan Players

Trojan Players rehearse under the able direction of Mrs. Great-house.

Taylor's dramatics organization is called the Trojan Players. Any student may become a member of the group by earning points for his participation in the production of a campus play. This year the Trojan Players presented "The Birds," "An Evening of One-Act Plays," and "Our Town."

Officers of the Trojan Players—Bonnie Dixon, treasurer; Bill Krick, secretary; Joan Leary, publicity; and Dale Dickey, president.

Board Furnishes TU Entertainment

The Student Union Board is a group of students whose responsibility it is to schedule programs of entertainment for the student body. During the second semester, the board sponsored performances by a group of Shakespearian actors, folksingers Joe and Penny Aronson, and pianists Ferrante and Teicher.

Joe and Penny Aronson captivate the audience with their version of an old Scottish folk ballad.

Serving on the Student Union Board for 1966-67 were Curtis Whiteman, Diane Kuhn, Jim Hall, Peter Carlson, chairman, Samuel Delcamp, adviser, Marilyn McQueen, and Norene Wolff.

Dear Senior of '67

We congratulate you on your academic achievement, and with great pleasure welcome you to a large and devoted family, the Taylor Alumni Association.

We are confident you will use your high academic and spiritual training for the good of mankind and the advancement of the Kingdom of God. We are also confident you will soon find your place of service in the outstanding Taylor alumni program.

May God grant you a rich and satisfying life as you enter your chosen field of service.
